

Center for world art studies

FROM THE STATUTE

§9

Within the structure of the Organization there shall be a separate unit - Centre of World Art Studies, hereinafter referred to as the "Center", implementing statutory, research, editorial and educational goals of the Organization.

§40

Pursuant to the provisions of § 9, the Centre has been set up for the implementation of statutory scientific research, publishing and teaching objectives of the Organization.

§ 41

The organizational structure of the Centre, consisting of departments and research laboratories, editorial offices, archive and library, is determined by the Board after obtaining the opinion of the Scientific Council. The Board also defines the rules of procedure.

§ 42

The center conducts educational activities on its own or in cooperation with universities, institutes and research centers or cultural institutions, including nationwide doctoral seminars, postgraduate studies, conservatory workshops. The scope and form of teaching activities is determined by the Board after obtaining the opinion of the Scientific Council.

§ 43

Unless the General Meeting decides otherwise, the President of the Organization assumes the position of the Director, and vice-president for cooperation with museums, cultural institutions and associations takes the position of the Deputy Director. Choosing other people for the position of Director and Deputy Director follows obtaining the opinion of the Scientific Council.

§ 44

The Center may employ full-time researchers. In the name of the Center employment contracts are signed by its director.

§ 45

The Director manages all the activities of the Centre. He represents the Center and signs agreements concerning the activities of the Center.

§ 46

The professional supervision over the work of the Center is exercised by the Scientific Council.
